Wines By The Glass Red

Cabernet Sauvignon, Newton Unfiltered, Napa Valley 2011	35.
Cabernet Sauvignon, Decoy, Duckhorn Vineyards, Sonoma County 2014 Made from a majority of Alexander Valley fruit, this is a smoky, chocolaty red wine, ripe in blackberry and an accent of clove. Rich, it remains fresh on the palate, with soft, supple tannins and an easygoing, lingering finish.	16.
Cabernet Sauvignon, Newton Red Label California 2012 Richly flavored with blackberry, black currants and herbal aromas as well as cola notes. This vibrant wine offers a pure expression of a Cabernet Sauvignon.	17.
Amicone, Cantine Di Ora, Italy 2013 These laborious steps produce a full-bodied yet soft wine with aromas of fresh raspberry and black cherry. Slow maturation in oak barrels gives notes of sweet spices and chocolate.	18.
Barolo, Parusso, Piedmont, Langhe 2009 Aromas of fresh flowers, rose petal, red berries, mint, licorice and cinnamon spice jump from the glass. Full bodied with chewy tannins and a dried fruit character. Gracious and elegant.	18.
Pinot Noir, Matthew Fritz 2012 Supple and elegant, displaying vanilla, cherry, and strawberry flavors makes this Pinot unique and adds spice and berry notes to the finish.	16.
Taft Street, Merlot Alexander Valley 2013 Our Sonoma County Merlot has black plum, berry, and spice flavors. Aging several months in small oak barrels imparts a toasty vanilla character that lingers through the silky finish. Our Merlot hails from gravely loam soils in the warmer growing regions of Sonoma County.	16.
Cabernet Sauvignon, Uppercut, Napa Valley 2013 We chose Cabernet Sauvignon from prime Napa Valley vineyards to give Uppercut an elegant, dark-fruit character and velvet tea texture. The rich, expansive flavors abound with lush blackberry, black cherry and cocoa expressions, while layers of spice and espresso linger on the fruit-imbued finish.	15.
White
Chardonnay, Newton Unfiltered, Napa Valley 2011	35.
Chardonnay, Newton, Napa Valley 2014 Tropical fruit, peach, pear, green apple and lime flavors mark this fruity Chardonnay. It has prominent vanilla and buttered toast flavors, with a nice hit of acidity for balance.	15.
Chardonnay, Smoke Tree, Sonoma County 2014	15.
Pinot Grigio, Benvolio, Friuli Italy 2012 Bright notes of honey, pear and aromas of white flowers. Crisp and lively with a pleasing, lingering aftertaste of apricots and peach.	13.
Riesling, A to Z 2016 Appealing aromas with dominant fruit, strong lime, pineapple, citrus zest, and grapefruit notes. Mild sweetness with some savory elements	15.
Rosé, Minuty, Cotes De Provence 2016 This rose is one of the finest wines of the Cotes de Provence appellation. With its magnificent location in the center of the Saint-Tropez peninsula, the Minuty Chateau was acquired by the Matton-Farnet family in 1936. This cuvee consists of 50% Grenache, 15% Tibouren and 35% Cinsault. Truly the taste of summer, this light, refreshing and versatile wine.	15.
Sauvignon Blanc, Riebeek Cellars, South Africa Collection 2013 This wine from the Swartland region offers well define fruit with a complementary freshness to ensure A crisp and refreshing white wine drained within two years with your favorite light meal or on its own.	14.
Sancerre, Patient Cottat 2015 Lite gold and clear, medium acidity and body make it a pleasant match with chicken or fish. A well known minerally 100% Chardonnay. Lovely apple, pear, lime, and tropical fruit flavors.	15.
Prosecco, Navarro Correas, Argentina 2012	15.

Champagne & Sparkling

- Champagne, Mumm Napa Brut Prestige 16.
Aromas of dried fruits, green apple, showing yeast, bread, biscuit and a hint of honey. Dry with nice acidity, and a delicate mousse.

Half Bottle Selections

White

- 4003 Chablis, Louis Michel Fils 2014 38.
4108 Chardonnay, Sanford, St. Rita Hills Appellation 2012 42.

Reds

- 4103 Cabernet Sauvignon, Hestan Vineyards, Napa CA 2005 135.
4104 Cabernet Sauvignon, Faust, Napa Valley CA 2011 60.
Initially grippy, the wine softens after a little bit of swirling, taking on a more plush and supple feel. Medium firm tannins give the wine great structure, without being overpowering. At the back palate, a hint of black pepper gives the wine a bit of liveliness. Dark black fruit of blackberry, black cherry and baked, yeasty pie crust. Brown spice, dark chocolate, cigar box and a hint of dusty earth. Long and lush with lingering black fruit, spice and earthy notes. At the tail end, a lovely hit of freshly cracked pepper adds an exotic zing.
4109 Cabernet Sauvignon, Stags Leap Artemis 2012 76.
4111. Cabernet Sauvignon, Inglenook, Napa Valley 2010 77.
4112 Merlot, Duckhorn, Napa Valley CA 2013 70.

4107 Cabernet Sauvignon, Stags Leap, Napa Valley 2012 65.

Champagne

- 4201 Pol Roger, Brut, NV 57.

Champagne produced from grapes grown in the Champagne region of France following rules that demand secondary fermentation of the wine in the bottle to create carbonation. Some use the term champagne as a generic term for sparkling wine, but many countries reserve the term exclusively for sparkling wines that come from Champagne and are produced under the rules of the appellation. The primary grapes used in the production of Champagne are Pinot noir, Chardonnay and Pinot Meunier. Champagne appellation law only allows grapes grown according to appellation rules in specifically designated plots within the appellation to be used in the production of Champagne. Some sparkling wines produced in other regions of the world use other grapes.

6210 Monnot Meursault Le Limozin 2013 169.

Xavier Monnot is a 17-hectare estate, all family-owned, located in Meursault. About 50% of the vineyards are planted in white, 50% in red. The production though is 65% white. Domaine Xavier Monnot's vineyards are very spread out, covering most of the Côte de Beaune starting in Beaune 1er Cru "Cent Vignes" and stretching all the way to Maranges 1er Cru in the Côte Chalonnaise. All the vines are hand-harvested and new oak is used with a lot of caution. Meursault "Le Limozin" comes from a 1 hectare vineyard that borders "Les Charmes" and "Les Poruzots". Displaying delicate aromas of flowers and fruits, this wine has bright color and an ample mellow taste.

Grüner Veltliner

6501 Austrian Pepper, Grüner Veltliner 2014 48.

6502 Schloss Gobelsburg “Renner” Kamptal, Austria 2011 78.

The vineyard nestles against the hill Gaisberg, hence shielded from cold and wind. The soil is loam and loess by halves with sand from Waldviertel gneiss in places. A full bodied Gruener Veltliner with great depth and natural acidity. It does provide this spicy element that is beautifully encrusted by wild flower flavours. All these Gruener Veltliner have a natural affinity to seafood and shellfish but also to pork, veal, domestic and game birds.

Moraga Estate Vineyards

A winery in Bel Air, Los Angeles?! This small estate on some of California's most expensive real estate is a relatively unknown but critically lauded gem. These Bordeaux styled wines are handcrafted and small production, a labor of love. A must try for any wine lover with a desire to discover something new. Moraga Vineyards is a wine growing estate in the Santa Monica Mountains at an elevation of 600 to 900 feet, five miles from the Pacific Ocean in the Los Angeles community of Bel Air. Owners and native Californians, Tom and Ruth Jones have lived on the 16-acre Moraga Canyon property since 1959, purchasing a small horse ranch originally built by Victor Fleming, director of Gone with the Wind and The Wizard of Oz." The Moraga Canyon site has a microclimate that is distinct from the surrounding area. Records from the last 45 years indicate the annual rainfall in the canyon averages 24 inches, compared to 15 inches in downtown Los Angeles. The soil also differentiates Moraga from other California appellations. Submerged under the Pacific Ocean for millions of years, the Los Angeles Basin was thrust upwards to create the current topography. As a result, Moraga has deep gravel beds in the canyon bottom and hillsides composed of ancient calcareous sandstone seabed in which many marine fossils and shells are found.

This 'cuvée' however is made from hand-picked grapes from vine s on 'la Parcelle des Dames' which Frédéric Lornet has identified as producing the best fruit.

Mariano Garcia is one of the required references in the world of wine in Spain. Technical Manager of Bodegas Vega Sicilia for 30 years, decided to become independent in 1998 to devote himself fully to his personal projects. The first, Bodegas Mauro, has long been established as one of the great wineries in Castilla - Leon, investing in production contained" high quality. Mauro perfectly represents the strength and the red race of Castilians. His good behavior as wine for aging, coupled with its strength and elegance. On the nose of fresh red fruit notes of ripe black fruit and floral notes and some spicessuch as nutmeg. Dairy and toffee to finish rounding the nose intense, well structured and balanced. On the palate good acidity, long, full-bodied but friendly, integrated tannins.

Large Format

When Size Matters... Wines come in a myriad of styles from big, full bodied and fortified, to light and petit. Bordeaux wine and bottles for other wines are produced in a wide array of wine bottle sizes and shapes too. Larger bottle sizes are well suited to longer aging of Bordeaux wine or other wines. It is a known fact that wine from larger formats age more slowly and possibly even develop more complexity and nuances than wines from smaller bottles. This is due to the smaller amount of air that resides between the cork and the wine. Interestingly, you will note that many of the unique names for wine bottle sizes were named after Biblical characters which the exact reason is unknown. For example:

-Jeroboam: "First King of The Kingdom"

-Methuselah: "Oldest Man"

-Salmanazar: "Assyrian King"

-Balthazar: "One of The Wise Men"

-Nebuchadnezzar: "King of Babylon"

-Solomon: "King Solomon, the wisest of all men, built the Temple in Jerusalem"

-Melchizedek: "Name of several priesthoods in different religions including the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints"

This is a list of the most frequently used wine bottle sizes. Other sizes like 1000 ml 500 ml and 250 ml are some of the unique sizes available. It is important to know, some wine bottle sizes, usually larger formats are only used for Champagne.

-Split: 187ml (1/4 bottle)

-Half Bottle: 375ml

-Standard: 750ml

-Magnum: 1.5L (2 bottles)

-Jeroboam or Double Magnum: 3L (4 bottles)

-Rehoboam: 4.5L (6 bottles)

-Methuselah or Imperial: 6L (8 bottles)

-Salmanazar: 9L (12 bottles)

-Balthazar: 12L (16 bottles)

-Nebuchadnezzar: 15L (20 bottles)

-Melchoir: 18L (24 bottles)

-Solomon: 20L (26 bottles)

-Sovereign 25L (33 bottles)

-Primat or Goliath 27L (36 bottles)

-Melchizedek 30L (40 bottles)

-Maximus 130L (173 bottles)

-A Barrel of Wine 227L (300 bottles)

The Current World Record for the Largest is held by Wang Chen Wines in Liaoning, Northern China is 1850 Liters and is 15 feet high, four times the previous record of 490 liters.

The World's smallest bottle of wine was made by Steve Klein of Klein's Design, Encino, California, USA. He produced a hand-blown miniature wine bottles standing 3.2 cm (1.2 in) tall and with a volume of 0.75ml (0.026 fl oz).

Port Wine

Port wine (also known as Vinho do Porto, Porto, and often simply Port) is a Portuguese fortified wine produced exclusively in the Douro Valley in the northern provinces of Portugal. It is typically a sweet, red wine, often served as a dessert wine, and comes in dry, semi-dry, and white varieties. Fortified wines in the style of Port are also produced outside Portugal, most notably in Australia, South Africa, Canada, India, Argentina, and the United States. Under European Union protected designation of origin guidelines, only the product from Portugal may be labelled as Port or Porto. In the United States, wines labelled "Port" may come from anywhere in the world, while the names "Dão", "Oporto", "Porto", and "Vinho do Porto" have been recognized as foreign, non-generic names for wines originating in Portugal. Port is produced from grapes grown and processed in the demarcated Douro region. The wine produced is then fortified by the addition of a neutral grape spirit known as aguardente in order to stop the fermentation, leaving residual sugar in the wine, and to boost the alcohol content. The fortification spirit is sometimes referred to as brandy but it bears little resemblance to commercial brandies. The wine is then stored and aged, often in barrels stored in a cave (pronounced "ka-ve" and meaning "cellar" in Portuguese) as is the case in Vila Nova de Gaia, before being bottled. The wine received its name, "Port", in the latter half of the 17th century from the seaport city of Porto at the mouth of the Douro River, where much of the product was brought to market or for export to other countries in Europe. The Douro Valley where Port wine is produced was defined and established as a protected region, or appellation in 1756, making it the oldest defined and protected wine region in the world. Chianti (1716) and Tokaj (1730) have older demarcation but no regulation associated and thus, in terms of regulated demarcated regions, Porto is the oldest.

Scotch

Scotch whisky (often referred to simply as "Scotch") is whisky made in Scotland. Scotch whisky is divided into five distinct categories: single malt Scotch whisky, single grain Scotch whisky, blended malt Scotch whisky (formerly called "vatted malt" or "pure malt"), blended grain Scotch whisky, and blended Scotch whisky. All Scotch whiskey must be aged in oak barrels for at least three years. Any age statement on a bottle of Scotch whisky, expressed in numerical form, must reflect the age of the youngest whisky used to produce that product. A whisky with an age statement is known as guaranteed-age whisky. The first written mention of Scotch whisky is in the exchequer rolls of Scotland, 1495. A friar named John Cor was the distiller at Lindores Abbey in the kingdom of Fife.

The Regions of Scotch Whiskey

Scotland was traditionally divided into four regions: the Highlands, Lowland, Islay, and Campbeltown.

Speyside — encompassing the Spey River Valley in north-east Scotland, once considered part of the highlands, has almost half of the total number of distilleries in Scotland within its geographic boundaries; consequently it is officially recognized as a region unto itself.

Campbeltown — was removed as a region several years ago, yet was recently re-instated as a recognized production region.

The Islands is not recognized as a region by the Scotch Whisky Association (SWA) and is considered part of the Highlands region.

Lowland — only three distilleries remain in operation: Auchentoshan, Bladnoch, and Glenkinchie.

Speyside — has the largest number of distilleries, which includes: Aberlour, Balvenie, Cardhu, Glenfarclas, Glenfiddich, Speyburn, the Glenlivet, the Glenrothes and the Macallan.

Highland — some highland distilleries: Aberfeldy, Balblair, Ben Nevis, Dalmore, Dalwhinnie, Glen Ord, Glenmorangie, Oban and Old Pulteney.

The Islands — an unrecognized sub-region includes all of the whisky-producing islands (but excludes Islay): Arran, Jura, Mull, Orkney and Skye — with their respective distilleries: Arran, Isle of Jura, Tobermory, Highland Park and Scapa, and Talisker.

Campbeltown — once home to over 30 distilleries, currently has only three distilleries operating: Glen Scotia, Glengyle and Springbank.

Islay — has eight producing distilleries: Ardbeg, Bowmore, Bruichladdich, Bunnahabhain, Caol Ila, Kilchoman, Kagavulin and Laphroaig.

Blends

Blended / Vatted Malt

Blended malt whisky formerly called vatted malt or pure malt (terms that are now prohibited in the SWR 2009)—is one of the least common types of Scotch: a blend of single malts from more than one distillery (possibly with differing ages). Blended malts contain only malt whiskies—no grain whiskies—and are usually distinguished from other types of whisky by the absence of the word 'single' before 'malt' on the bottle, and the absence of a distillery name. To qualify as a blended malt, the mixed single malt whiskies are matured in the barrel for one year, after which the age of the vat is that of the youngest of the original ingredients. A blended malt marked "8 years old" may include older whiskies, with the youngest constituent being eight years old before vating. Johnnie Walker Green is an example of a blended malt. As of November 2009, no Scotch whisky could be labelled as a vatted malt or pure malt, with Scotch whisky regulations requiring them to be labelled blended malt instead. Blended Scotch whisky constitutes about 90% of the whisky produced in Scotland. Blended Scotch whiskies contain both malt whisky and grain whisky. They were initially created as an alternative to single malt whiskies, which some considered too harsh. Producers combine the various malts and grain whiskies to produce a consistent brand style. Notable blended Scotch whisky brands include Bells, Dewar's, Johnnie Walker, Whyte and Mackay, Cutty Sark, J&B, the Famous Grouse, Ballantine's and Chivas Regal.

Japanese Whiskey

In 1923, Shinjiro Torii, the founder of Suntory and the father of Japanese whiskey, built Japan's first malt whiskey distillery in the Vale of Yamazaki. The distillery's location on the outskirts of Japan's ancient capital of Kyoto offered pure waters, diversity of climate and high humidity the ideal environment for the maturation of good whiskey. Today, Suntory Yamazaki is the most popular single malt whiskey in Japan and is enjoyed by whiskey connoisseurs around the world. Suntory Yamazaki is currently exported to more than 25 countries, including the United States.

Louis XIII is manufactured using grapes from the Grande Champagne Region of Cognac, France. It is blended from 1200 Cognacs, some more than a century in age. Then it is aged in tiercons (oak barrels that are several hundred years old) in its own cellar.

Calvados

Calvados is distilled from specially grown and selected apples, of which there are over 200 named varieties. It is not uncommon for a Calvados producer to use over 100 specific varieties of apple to produce their Calvados. The apples used are either sweet (such as the Rouge Duret variety), tart (such as the Rambault variety), or bitter (such as the Mettais, Saint Martin, Frequin, and Binet Rouge varieties), with the latter category of apple being inedible.
