

ZAGAT

November 5, 2012

Delmonico's Kitchen, Giovanni Rana Pastificio Now Open

We also have word that Delmonico's Kitchen is now serving lunch in Midtown. The eatery is a spinoff of old-school Delmonico's in the Financial District. Though many of the steaks and chops that made the original so popular will be on offer, the new joint is appealing to younger crowd, showcasing the catchphrase "this is not your father's Delmonico's." We hear that they are taking walk-ins for service and will start taking reservations on November 7 (207 West 36th St.; 212-695-5220).